

Getting to CTTC

The Centre Tecnològic de Telecomunicacions de Catalunya (CTTC) is located at the Mediterranean Technology Park, in the metropolitan area of Castelldefels (Barcelona). The Park has excellent road and rail links to Barcelona and airport.

Access by train R-2 line, Castelldefels station.

The Castelldefels train station (RENFE R-2 line) is 300 m from the CTTC. From Sants Central Station the journey is about 20 min and from the Paseo de Gracia Station the journey is about 25 min. This is the recommended access if you are coming to the CTTC with public transportation.

To arrive to the CTTC coming from the Castelldefels Train Station you need to follow the UPC sings. After crossing the bridge you will arrive to the Mediterranean Technology Park (PMT) and then there is a panel with all the centers location. The CTTC building is B4.

Access by bus L95 line from Barcelona-Plaça Catalunya.

The L95 bus line departing from Barcelona Plaça Catalunya, in the city center, stops at L'Hospitalet de Llobregat, El Prat de Llobregat, Viladecans, Gavà and Castelldefels. There are buses every 20 min. The journey it takes 45 min.

The bus station is in front the Mediterranean Technology Park (PMT).

Access by car C-31 and C-32 motorways.

The CTTC is 10 min far away from the Barcelona airport and 30 min from the Barcelona city center (during rushing hours the time is longer). Take the C-32 motorway (formerly A-16) until exit 46 (Castelldefels) or alternatively take the C-31 motorway (formerly N-246) until exit Canal Olímpic. Follow the UPC sings to arrive to the Mediterranean Technology Park.

Access from the airport.

Taxi (around 20-25 euro) is strongly recommended.
